

Correlate the events and activity log; require user_id in each log line .

In RLM when an application is made inactive or any updates made how can a correlation be established between the log lines in server logs and the event performed by the user .