

Ability to remove the 'Customize' button on consoles - FP12

Presently, it looks like you cannot remove this button, which means anyone could edit a console and make unwanted changes.

A mechanism to remove access, either at a system profile level, or console level, would be great.

